

Day Twenty

CLD ADVENT CALENDAR

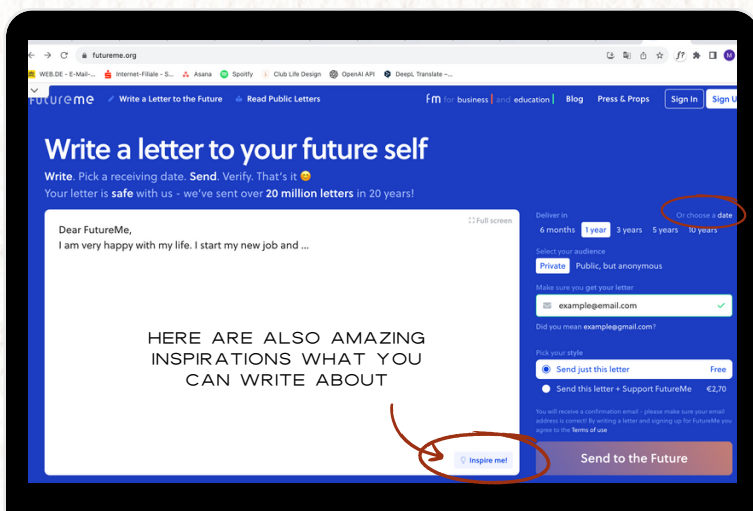

WRITE AN EMAIL TO YOUR FUTURE SELF!

Happy twentieth of December!

Have you ever received a gift out of nowhere that you weren't expecting? That's an incredibly great feeling, isn't it? But why let chance decide when you could also just give yourself a little gift from time to time?

For today we want you to do something for yourself, in particular your future self. Write an email and set it for a future date. You can write about all the things you would have liked to hear today. Or you could write about your current state and then see how you have changed over time. Or anything else you'd like! Positive affirmations, a prediction for the future or simply a diary entry about the best events of 2023. There are no limits to your creativity.

You decide when the email should be sent. So it's best to choose a time a little further in the future so that you can really be surprised.

Step 1

Specify the period when you want to receive the letter. Alternatively, you can also select an exact date (e.g. your birthday)
